112
With F.M.L.

Spring, time of emergence, hope, new life, awareness.

A butterfly lifting color - spanned wings among morning shadows to sunlight. A child chasing after, lightly sandaled for a morning romp, as if the only spirit bright enough to catch the lovely "papillon." Not so. We are all children grown older.

A new world, each spring, a lighter heart for each one to know his mind a little better. A time for the young. A pleasant light among the seasons.

112-112-112-

The French language is for spring. Too bad I remember so little of it. With a name like mine, you would expect something more precise.

Luck would have it French was the first foreign language I learned. Everyone learns a semblance of language other than English, either through family or school. French came in junior high where I went to school, sandwiching Latin in high school, upon going to college.

As luck further would have it, the only real application of the language occurred during the military. Those days just before Dien Bien Phu, French still was a universal language, at least in diplomacy.

Out in the field one day, I got a call to come into the post for assignment. Seems a French colonel of artillery and a translator were visiting and were to see some of the wonders of the artillery center. Seems the records showed I knew a bit of his language.

Down to McNair Hall went I, the young lieutenant with unproven linguistic French, to guide the Colonel and his translator, an American linguist with silver leaves on his shoulders.

"Bon jour, mon Colonel." And we were off.

Fortunately, the linguist knew conversational French. I was supposed to supply technical translation. And open doors. And even take the Colonel offpost to see something of Lawton, Okla.

We stopped where the Colonel wanted to go. And we saw the insides of places few people see even when they are "cadre" on a major post. They awaited us for a tour of the OCS school. We drove by 280-gun units, then known as the "atomic cannon". Rockets soon displaced this long-range weapon. It was quite an itinerary.

We looked at barracks and special classes and all the rest of the Artillery Center. And my French grew better while, I'm sure, the Colonel's grew worse.

Late afternoon the second day, the Colonel dropped me back at the steps of McNair, touched his cap in salute in exchange to mine, saying "Merci, lieutenant, pour la grande tour."

That's the most French I've exchanged with anyone since. Come to think of it, it was the only time I was put to the test.

Come spring, I throw a French word around now and again, just to remember it is as useful as the season is romantic.

Pre-school Roundup Tuesday

Pre-school roundup will be held Tuesday for first graders and prospective kindergarten students, according to Elementary Principal Arnett Zelisko.

Hours will be from 8:30 to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesday, May 4 at Ben Milam Elementary School.

To be registered for first grade this coming fall are children who will be 6 years of age on or before September 1, 1971.

Parents are urged to bring their youngsters at that time along with their child's birth certificate and all records of immunization. Smallpox vaccination is required, and DPT, measles and polio immunization is urged. Permits for tuberculosis skin tests next fall will be ready for parents to sign.

KINDERGARTEN

All children who will be five years and two months old on or before September 1, but under six years of age, are to register also on the above date as prospective kindergarten students for the fall semester.

Qualifying students will need their birth certificates and health records as outlined above for first graders, before they can enroll in kindergarten this fall.

Parents may call 697-3512 or 697-2381, offices of the superintendent and elementary principal, and register their kindergarten students if the Tuesday date is inconvenient.

Early registration will serve as a pre-programming survey for the 1971-72 school year, Zelisko said.

Cameron Pastor Accepts Post In La Marque

Rev. Donald Marquart, pastor of Abiding Savior Lutheran Church, has accepted a call to serve as pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in La Marque, Texas, beginning May 30.

He has been in Cameron since July 1968 serving as the first pastor of the newly organized Lutheran congregation in Cameron. Under his guidance the congregation has erected its sanctuary and a parsonage as well as attain its present membership of 149.

Rev. Marquart's last Sunday Service in Cameron will be May 9. He and his family will move to La Marque on May 13.

Marquart said the La Marque congregation has a membership of 550. "It is very progressive with the inclusion of the celebration of the Lord's Supper every Sunday, use of guitars with the youth choir and the use of worship settings other than the traditional Lutheran liturgy," Marquart said. "Another feature of the congregation is that it is presently one of four Lutheran congregations in the nation using the covenant type of membership."

Report Out On 3 Wells

By Lloyd Albertson

Information has been released about three new wells recently completed in the county's two major oilfields although no new wildcats were scheduled for Milam County during the past two weeks.

Houston operator Byron Rose's new well on W. G. Westbrook acreage in the Cherokee Navarro Field is reported to be an excellent producer. Potential test figures, however, have not been released on the Westbrook, if potential has yet been run.

This well is one of a half dozen wildcats which Rose scheduled last December to be drilled in the field. He has completed three or four of them on different leases as oilers.

Ten or a dozen miles to the southwest, two new wells drilled in the sprawling Milbur Field had potential information released about them.

J. A. Leonard of Austin has filed potential on his No. 1 - A H. H. Coffield, showing the well produced 67 barrels of 26 gravity oil per day on perforations at 2,815 - 828 feet in the basal Wilcox.

Leonard's new well is located on a Coffield tract in Eliza Sante Survey across the line in Burleson County. It is in the southwest extension of the Milbur Field -- sometimes called the Bur-mil Field in that area.

Potential figures also were filed by Ka-Hugh Enterprises of Houston on their new well, the No. 1-A T. R. Underwood, located on a 34 acre lease in D. H. Vanveighton Survey. The Underwood made 31.3 barrels of 34.8 gravity oil per day on 14 - 64 inch choke under 300 pounds pressure on tubing on perforations at 3,635 - 641 feet. Production was from the Navarro "B" zone.

The drilling permit -- Form One -- for the Underwood was filed by Brown & Mc Kenzie, Houston independent operators, but drilling operations apparently was taken over and completed by Ka-Hugh Enterprises.

For Adult Education
Cameron Will Be Testing Center

Two changes in the 5 county Adult Education program based in Cameron could mean doubling the enrollment and greatly increasing the number of students receiving high school completing certificates.

Cameron has been designated a testing center for General Education Development certificates (equivalent to a high school diploma) and legislation is awaiting appropriations to add commercial courses to the existing program.

Max McClaren, director of the program, said the designation as a testing center would make it easier for area students to take the GED tests. "Our students must go to Temple, Bryan or Austin for the series of 5 tests now," McClaren said. He added that the first local tests would probably be scheduled in June.

"John Chubb, principal of Yoe High School, and D. R. Dodson, Cameron superintendent, were most helpful in getting the testing center designation," McClaren said. He said Mrs. Ruth Sharp, high school counselor, will be in charge of the testing program.

McClaren said that 11 students had passed the GED tests this year and 12 more were in the process of taking the examinations.

The addition of commercial skills courses to the adult education program is expected to double enrollment next fall if appropriations are approved by the state. McClaren said both the Texas House and Senate had approved the commercial program but actual funding awaits action by House Speaker Gus Mutscher and W. S. Heatly, appropriations chairman.

McClaren has been working to add the commercial courses since 1968. He said that although the Adult Education program is federally funded, the commercial skills addition would be a state project.

McClaren said there was a possibility that the commercial courses would also be available to adults who already have high school diplomas. "If this is opened to students outside the basic adult education program we would probably need to make a minimum charge for the courses," McClaren said. He explained that there was no charge for the regular program.

McClaren said there are between 500 and 600 students enrolled in the 5 county adult education classes. The program employs 24 teachers and a part-time supervisor.

Subjects offered presently range from basic elementary studies through a complete high school curriculum.

Santa Fe Joins Amtrak

Santa Fe Railway has joined AMTRAK, the National Railroad Passenger Corporation, John S. Reed, president, announced in Chicago.

The Texas Chief will still make its daily Temple stops going south at 4:30 p.m. and north at 10:45 a.m.

However, stops at McGregor and Rosenberg have been dropped from the Chief's Texas run, according to the AMTRAK schedule. Other stops in Texas on the Chicago to Houston route include the Bellville Yard, Cleburne, Fort Worth and Gainesville.

AMTRAK, formerly called Railpax, is a quasi-public agency established by Congress and is designed to provide a base upon which to build and expand the scope of intercity passenger service.

The present Chief schedule may be temporary as plans call for a future stop in Dallas, bypassing Temple.

Plans previously announced by Railpax call for service over Santa Fe tracks between Chicago and Los Angeles on the schedule of the present Super Chief-El Capitan; between Chicago and Houston, on the Texas Chief schedule; two round trips per day on the San Diegan between Los Angeles and San Diego, and the Los Angeles to San Diego portion of the new through train between Seattle and San Diego which will operate three times a week.

Service Set Here For Emil Hollas

Emil Hollas, 67, died Tuesday morning in a Rosebud hospital.

He was a native of Cameron and a retired school bus driver. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Funeral service will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday (today) at St. Monica's Catholic Church, the Rev. John Geiser officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Rosary was recited at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Marek-Burns-Laywell Funeral Home.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Agnes Hollas; a son, James Edward Hollas of Corpus Christi; two daughters, Miss Barbara Marie Hollas and Mrs. Dorene Martindale, both of Austin.

Also surviving are three brothers, Richard Hollas and Leo Hollas of Cameron and Albert Hollas of Edna; and four sisters, Miss Christine Hollas of Fort Worth, Mrs. Annie Shelblack of Ganado, Mrs. Regina Pierce of Champaign, Ill., and Mrs. Hilda Kruhl of Austin.

On Game Laws....
Parks & Wildlife Sets Hearing

Recommendations to be aired in a local public hearing slated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department include proposals dealing with deer, fish, and turkeys.

The Milam County hearing will be held Wednesday, May 5 at 2 p.m. in the County Courthouse.

The hearings will give local sportsmen and landowners opportunity to discuss proposed changes in the state wildlife proclamations before the changes are considered by the P&W Commission.

One of the proposals would expand the state's either-sex deer season from four to 24 counties. The experimental either-sex deer season was started successfully last year.

Antlerless deer have traditionally been harvested in many areas of the state, but only under a "doe permit" system.

FISHING

One of the changes which would affect all the state's regulatory counties is a recommendation to put an 11-inch minimum length on all channel, blue, and flathead catfish caught in Texas waters.

Another proposed change would make it illegal to possess game fish (crappie, white bass or largemouth bass) while fishing with or having a net in possession at the same time. Further, it would be unlawful to have in possession or aboard any boat or in any vehicle, any fish other than rough fish, as defined while fishing with or possessing a hoop net, trammel net or gill net.

The latter change was suggested to aid game management officers in their enforcement of laws protecting game fish. Often the GMO's check persons who are in possession of both game fish and a net, but who claim the game fish were taken on hook and line.

Another proposed change defines as illegal the practice of "snagging" fish with hooks jerked through the water.

Also to be considered as a statewide law would be a change to make it unlawful to shoot turkeys on their roost.

No official recommendations for changes in quail seasons or bag limits will be brought out in the hearings, because department officials want to assess results of summer quail population surveys before recommending seasons and bag limits.

In addition to the official recommendations for changes, a number of suggested changes will be discussed unofficially in the hearings. These will not be acted on by the Commission for the 1971-72 year, but will nevertheless be open for discussion.

Banks Show Gains

Milam County banks showed impressive gains in deposits in the nationwide bank call Friday. Most Texas banks reported gains over the April 1970 bank call. Dallas took the lead with a billion dollar plus increase over the spring 1970 report.

Area bank deposits were:

Yoe To Present One-Act Plays

Three one-act plays will be presented by students of the Yoe High School Drama Department Friday night at 8 p.m. in the Ben Milam cafetorium.

The three plays are: "Ile," a drama by Eugene O'Neill (second place winner at the District 20-AA One-Act Play contest); "Tea at Four," by Richard Hill Wilkinson; and "The Ugly Duckling," by A. A. Milne.

"Ile" will feature the original cast from the contest performance, including John Ben Sutter, who won "best actor" honors and Danny Robbins and Bill Gray, who won honorable mentions.

Admission will be 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

The plays are directed by Thomas Dusek and sponsored by the Yoe High Honor Society.

CORRECTION

A Yoe High honor student, Kathryn Diane Keith, was inadvertently left off the list published in Monday's Herald. Kathryn's grade average is 90.45.

A New Identity...

As women's lib progresses, in various degrees, so will a brand of men's lib.

No one is quite certain what that means now, but when a point or two more than half of the population is asserting work rights and greater influence in broad areas of society, the other half is not sitting still.

It seems we are all becoming more whole and human beings. Women want better pay. Men may want a different role as well.

It is little wonder we find an "identity crisis" among people throughout the western world. Basic roles are adjusting, if not changing.

Little likelihood we should fear it, however, If people are educated, they can recognize that women's lib asks specifically for the distaff side, equal recognition outside the home.

What that means for men in a modern interpretation of equal time is under decision.

A new identity awaits us all. And that is what so many are seeking. It is engrossing to anticipate what new roles we all shall play.

Dictionary Of Diversity...

Response to your Herald's Reuters International news is good at first nod, not unlike the interest of Folk Fete among the seven ethnic groups living in the Milam area.

This broad ethnic background proved the vehicle for Folk Fete, which heads into its second year this June.

This area is as much of a composite of peoples as any metropolitan area used to be. Now the metro areas are spreading out into some kind of mish-mash of freeways and suburbs and the central cities will never be the same.

Reuters provides features about all parts of the world and Europe where most Central Texans came from. The relationship between old and new worlds is now new because of communications and transportation. Development of SST aircraft ultimately will bring Europe or Asia as close to Texas as the East or West Coasts.

Our readers may be a broader cross section than most non - metro areas, but they are subject to the same interests added to this broad ethnic background. Net result is a sophistication in interests that belies our basic rural background.

Or so we believe and early interest in our features indicates. We continue to seek your comments. Milam County, on balance, is a fascinating mix of peoples and interests which requires their oldest newspaper to be a dictionary of diversity.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

A bunch of big-city mayors toured New York the other day, according to an article I found in a newspaper which somebody threw out of his car in violation of the Environmental Act of 1970, to see if the reports of the dire plight of the country's biggest city are true, and they came away shaking their heads.

According to them, dope, crime, poverty, over-crowding, slums, massive traffic jams, smog, electrical shortages, and a municipal financial crisis beyond imagining have just about done in the city.

In fact, the Mayor of Boston, shaking his head the hardest, said the plight of New York is so bad it could be "the first sign of the collapse of our entire civilization."

Wouldn't you know, right when my car has blown a gasket, the refrigerator has conked out, I've got an ingrown toenail and two boards have broken through on my front porch, civilization has to collapse. When it rains it pours.

Now I never have gotten up in the morning believing that if New York collapse today me and civilization will too, but if it's true I guess the country ought to pitch in and try to save the place, even if cities have, dinosaur-like, grown so big they can't be fed enough to stay alive.

But there are some catches. Say we do try to save New York, somebody tells Congress that civilization exists there and is about to collapse, and money is poured in.

Then, what's to keep Boston from entering the same plea? And we save her, and then Los Angeles gets in on a good thing, claiming it can meet the same terms, and then Philadelphia and Chicago and on down to lesser cities, all saying they're about to kill civilization too, maybe including Milano and Buckholts? It'd take billions and billions of dollars.

Then when all the cities and towns are saved and we figure civilization is secure, some farmer is going to come up with the notion, which I know I've read somewhere, that civilization begins and ends with the plow. The cost would never end.

Obviously, civilization was a splendid theory, but it won't work. It costs too much money.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Texas Meat Inspection Gets Federal Approval

By Vern Sanford

Texas meat inspection program finally has received federal approval.

Accredation of the Texas State Health Department - conducted program was based on a recently - completed survey of the state's 800 meat processing plants and slaughterhouses and finding that they had met standards equal to those of the federal government.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture last February caused concern by advising the Health Department that federal standards were not met. New Texas Meat and Poultry Act went into effect Sept. 2, 1969, giving authority for an inspection program to the division of veterinary public health of the State Health Department. New school was established to train inspectors to meet the federal guidelines.

Purpose of the program is to give added protection to the consumer, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy.

LIQUOR BILL

Texas is going to have liquor-by-the-drink -- and faster than nearly anybody expected.

Legislature completed action on the bill last week, spelling out the mechinery for legalized mixed drink sales in open bars, and Gov. Preston Smith promptly signed it into law.

Smith said the measure will have "tremendous impact on the economy of our state" through increasing tourism.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. has sent out instructions to local officials noting particularly that the bill provides for mandatory local option elections on the drinks issue in 46 counties on May 18.

Counties which must schedule referendums in their "all-wet" areas in connection with the May consitutional amendments vote are those which last November approved lifting the open saloons ban and which contain cities or precincts where "package" sale of distilled spirits already is legal.

Dies cautioned judges and clerks of those counties that they must call local option elections prior to April 28 to assure 20 days' notice. Elections will be held only in areas (precincts and cities) of the 46 counties where sale of all alcoholic beverages is legal. Only in counties where sale of all alcoholic beverages is legal countywide will the May 18 vote be held throughout the county.

"It is a relief to have this issue settled in Texas once and for all," commented Smith.

Later elections can be called in other partially - wet counties by the standard petition route.

CRIME FUNDS DISTRIBUTED

More than $1.5 million in criminal justic action grants have been approved for 34 projects to combat crime.

Six of the projects are for police training. They include Heart of Texas Council of Governments, Waco, $29,690; Southwestern Legal Foundation, Dallas, $24,000; Tarrant County junior college district, $33,047 for law enforcement supervisory personnel program in data processing; City of Tyler, $22,732 to continue operating its career development program through Tyler Law Enforcement Academy; Houston - Galveston Area Council, $39,935 for regional law enforcement training center; and North Central Texas COG, Arlington, $5,126 to send 30 officers to an armed robbery conference.

Crime prevention projects on drug education were approved for Texas Department of Corrections, $52,000, and City of Wichita Falls, $12,500. Prevention and juvenile delinquency control programs were approved for Texas Rehabilitation Commission, $39,748; Houston Independent School District, $15,000; Cameron County, $64,606 and Central Texas COG, Killeen, $56,986. City of Port Arthur received $4,095 and Hardeman County, $45,600 for projects aimed at improving detection and apprehension of criminals.

Grants for improvement of prosecution and court activities and law reform were approved for Houston Independent School District, $65,989 (teacher training); Alamo Area COG, San Antonio (night magistrate hire), $83,365 and Nortex Regional Planning Commission, Wichita Falls, $33,984 (judicial management study). Projects to increase effectiveness of corrections and rehabilitation were approved for Sam Houston State University, $78,273 (two projects); Travis County, $53,617 and Texas Department of Corrections, $70,570 (three grants).

Texas Criminal Justice Council received $30,000 to hire an organized crime prevention council coordinator and staff. City of Amarillo received $17,732 for its community relations police unit and City of Austin, $115,771 to establish a police community relations program. Dallas County received $379,401 to computerize its criminal justice information system. Corpus Christi got $48,104 to establish a microfilm storage and retrieval system. Belton received $13,912 for remodeling and building a police-court building. Capital Area Planning Council, Austin, received $7,020 for planning criminal justice system. Capital Area Council also got $6,656; Alamo Area COG, $11,786; and Middle Rio Grande Valley Development Council, $4,537 to combine information networks into an improved teletype loop.

COURTS SPEAK

Following U.S. Supreme Court approval of massive busing to achieve racial balance, federal court at Tyler ordered three all-black school districts dissolved and told the state to eliminate any racially - separate unit.

Fourth Court of Civil Appeals in a Toyah school district case held that it is illegal to conduct public business in cloased meetings with the public barred. Actions taken in illegal meetings are illegal and void, Court held. Decision reversed a lower court.

State Supreme Court said Abilene police needed no search warrants to search the pockets of a man suspected of being about to sell marijuana.

High Court upheld State Savings and Loan Commissioner W. Sale Lewis' 1969 approval for a branch office of the Stephenville Savings and Loan Association in Granbury (Hood County) and rejection of an application for a new association there. Decision upheld Austin district court and Third Court of Civil Appeals.

HOSPITAL AID ALLOCATED

State Board of Health has allocated $8.9 million in federal Hill-Burton funds for health facilities construction.

Funds were drastically reduced by the federal administration, particularly for new general hospital construction. Texas received only $300,000 for new hospital construction. Hill-Burton pays up to 50 per cent of cost of construction or modernization of health facilities in areas of critical need. Of recent allocations, rehabilitation received $612,000; out-patient facilities, $4.1 million; long term care, $1.4 million; modernization, $2.5 million and new construction, $200,000.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Game of Chance"

"Fifty cents per shot," said the sign at a certain golf course. "If you score a hole-in-one, you win $5,000."

Sure enough, a golfer eventually did come through with a hole-in-one. But the proprietor refused to pay the prize money. Haled into court, he argued that the contest was a "game of chance"—hence, not enforceable by law.

However, the judge disagreed. Ordering the money paid, the judge said there was simply too much skill involved in a golf shot to classify this as a game of chance.

In varying degree, gambling is regulated in every state. Often, under these regulations, it becomes necessary for a court to decide what is meant by the phrase "game of chance."

Sometimes the answer is relatively easy. Thus, the throwing of dice has consistently been held a game of chance. So has roulette. So has matching pennies.

On the other hand, chess and checkers and spelling bees have all been held not games of chance but games of skill.

What about bridge? Most courts have classified bridge, too, as a game of skill.

"Although there is of course an element of chance resulting from the deal of the cards," explained one judge, "there is a continually recurring necessity in the bidding and play to make decisions which will ordinarily be determinative of the outcome."

Does it "take the curse off" a forbidden game of chance if the stakes are very small? As a matter of principle, no. Consider this case:

A restaurant owner was arrested on a charge of operating an illegal gambling device on his premises. Although he protested that the prizes were worth only a nickel, the court found him guilty anyhow.

What the law is concerned about, said the court, is any device "designed to intrigue the unwary and arouse the latent cupidity of human nature into the notion that it could get something for nothing."

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

CORRECTION

The story about no liquor election for Milam County in the April 26 issue of The Herald should have read: "The county did not vote for the Constitutional Amendment, etc. The phrase, "The county does not have any area that has legalized the sale of 'distilled spirits' was incorrect.

CORRECTION

Jan Burke, seventh grader at Cameron Junior High, was also on the honor roll for the fifth six weeks. Her name was left off the list appearing in the April 26 Herald.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

WOULD ABANDON U.S. PRISONERS TO REDS

REP. L.F. SIKES (Fla.) ". . . If enemy agents stormed this city, crippled our national defense capability, halted the business of the Congress, and brought the Government of the United States to its knees, what would you call it?

"That is what a band of militants plan to do within the next 2 months. They call it antiwar. . .

"When a campus erupts, buildings burn, police are killed, citizens are terrorized, it is all done in the name of the "antiwar" movement.

"Now we are reading detailed press accounts of plans to shut down military bases, invade Government buildings, harass workers and in general disrupt the Nation's Capital and the workings of Government. There are some people who seem willing to excuse this behavior because the destruction is to be done at the hands of "antiwar" demonstrators. Let's keep these plans in perspective. The leaders are not "anti-war." Their attitude and their efforts are Anti-American, and everyone in America should know it.

"Among them is the NATIONAL STUDENT ASSOCIATION (NSA.) In December, 15 leaders of this group went to Hanoi where they signed a "declaration of solidarity" with the Vietcong and the North Vietnamese Communists. They also signed a peace treaty calling for the ABANDONMENT BY THE UNITED STATES of both the South Vietnamese people and OUR OWN PRISONERS OF WAR.

"The NSA in February came to terms with the People's Coalition For Peace and Justice headed by Rennie Davis and David Dellinger of Chicago Seven notoriety.

"The agreement took place at a meeting in Washington attended by leaders of the COMMUNIST PARTY USA, SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY, YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE, WAR REGISTERS LEAGUE, MAYDAY MOVEMENT, and the NATIONAL WELFARE RIGHTS ORGANIZATION.

"To date, about 100 groups and organizations have announced plans to participate in the April and May demonstrations here. . .

"These people are not against war. They are for war. Their aim is to destroy the United States by any means including war and violence. . .

"The Federal Government should as it has in the past, do all in its power to make certain the rights of protest is not infringed upon. The police and security forces necessary to assure this right should be made available. These forces also should be given the clear duty to take all necessary steps to protect the Government and people of the United States. . .

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

Undoubtedly our involvement in South Vietnam could be negotiated quickly if the International Red Cross were allowed to verify the condition and number of American prisoners. By recommending abandonment of American prisoners to the Communists it's obvious the NSA is made up of a high percentage of idiots.—J.C.

Folk Music Program For Lions

Cameron Noon Lions members were entertained with a program of original folk music at their meeting Monday.

Rev. Alvis Coleman, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, presented a program of original folk music, accompanying himself on the guitar. The collection of songs included serious and humorous aspects of a pastor's life and a history of the Methodist Church.

Rev. Coleman, pastor of the Methodist Church in Cameron for the past two years, is a poet and has been a member of the Poetry Society of Texas.

During a business meeting Cameron Noon Lions voted against a resolution to divide the Texas Lions district.

Only 12 letters comprise the Hawaiian alphabet.

County Agent's Notes

Identification Of Insects Important

By J. D. Moore

Examples of "erroneous" insect identifications have been common in various locations throughout the county recently. Some of these decisions have an economic impact and should be corrected.

For example, one stockman reported a case of screwworms he had experienced in his cattle some two weeks before reporting to the county agent. When asked how he knew they were screwworms, he implied his identification was correct.

The procedure to follow in this case is to bring a sample of the larvae (worms) to the county agents office, to your vo-ag teacher or veterinarian who will mail the sample in for identification.

Several cases of ground (daubber wasps) were mistaken for "fire ants" which caused some anxiety among some of our people the past two weeks. There again, the County Extension office can be of service by getting these insects properly identified.

GOPHER CONTROL

Acccording to Leeman Wilson, whose ranch is located on the "buzzard roost" road north of Cameron, good control of gophers is shown as result of treating the infested area with poison grain.

A demonstration was conducted on Wilson's place on March 4, using a 3 point hitch tractor to pull a gopher bait machine. About 1 1/2 to 2 lbs. of grain was put down in a "burrow" fashion for gopher control

No mounds have shown this spring on the treated area.

For those with gopher problems, Wilson might be enticed to custom treat such areas for public hire. In many cases this would be more practical than owning the machine.

Headquarters Opens To Fight State Hog Cholera

COLLEGE STATION

The opening of a State - Federal Eradication headquarters is the latest move to eliminate hog cholera in Texas. The office, says W. W. Bailey, hog cholera information officer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will coordinate all program activities in the state.

State coordinator at Waco is Dr. Wiley Horn while Dr. Donald E. Torkelson is serving as the Federal coordinator. The headquarters are located in Building 39-3, Avenue C, on the James Connally campus.

Texas swine producers are already working under a Texas Animal Health Commission order restricting the movement of swine within the state, and Bailey notes that all or portions of 33 Texas counties are currently under Federal quarantine for hog cholera and producers in the affected counties are aware of the situation.

No feeder pigs or breeding swine can be moved interstate from an area under Federal quarantine.

Slaughter hogs can be moved, provided: they are from healthy herds; are inspected on the farm by State or Federal regulatory officials or accredited veterinarians; and are shipped direct to slaughter or to a designated market for slaughter.

In addition, hogs for slaughter must be accompanied by a special certificate authorizing their movement from a Federally quarantined area. Pork products derived from healthy, unexposed swine may be moved interstate even though the swine are slaughtered in a quarantined area, Bailey said.

During the first half of April, nine cases of hog cholera, including three in Galveston, two in Liberty, and one each in McLennan, Montgomery, San Jancinto and Wise counties, were diagnosed.

ASCS NEWS

By Douglas Buck

Payments on 1970 marketings of shorn wool were made in early April at the rate of 102.8 percent of returns to a grower on sales. The rate was based on the difference between the incentive price of 72 cents a pound and the national average price of 35.5 cents a pound received by producers.

The higher 1970 payment rate compared with the 1969 rate of 65.1 percent, reflects a drop in market prices for shorn wool in 1970. Wool prices were generally lower last year throughout the world.

Each grower's wool payment was determined by multiplying his net dollar return from the sale of wool by the payment rate of 102.8 percent. The percentage method of payment is designed to encourage growers to improve the quality and marketing of their wool. The higher the price a grower gets for his wool the larger the incentive payment.

A payment rate of $1.46 a hundredweight was made on unshorn lambs sold or slaughtered in 1970. The 1969 rate was $1.09. This payment is designed to compensate growers for the wool they market on live lambs rather than as shorn wool. The payment is based on the shorn wool payment rate, average weight of wool per hundredweight of lambs, and value of lamb's wool relative to the national average value of shorn wool.

The 1970 payment rate on mohair was 105.1 percent of sales returns received by a grower. The rate was based on the difference between the support price of 80.2 cents and the average price of 39.1 cents a pound received by all producers of mohair. Payments on the 1969 marketings were at the rate of 18.9 percent of dollar returns when growers received an average of 65.1 cents a pound in the marketplace.

Payments to wool and mohair growers on 1970 marketings will be about $74 million, up $11 million over 1969. Wool payments are estimated at about $66 million in 1970 compared with $51 million last year. Mohair payments will be about $8 million, compared with $2 million for 1969.

Deductions in 1970 of 1 1/2 cents a pound for shorn wool and mohair payments and 7 1/2 cents a hundred pounds of live weight from lamb payments were made to finance advertising, sales promotion, and related marketing years.

The 1971 incentive price for wool announced Dec. 8, 1970, is 72 cents a pound, the same as for 1970. The 1971 support price of 80.2 cents a pound for mohair is also the same as the support price for 1970.

FARM NEWS

LAMBS MARKETED

Texas sheep producers marketed more spring lambs early and sold more of them as feeders reports the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Some 39,000 head were marketed before March 1, nearly 50% more than a year ago. And notes Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist, a much larger proportion of these lambs were sold as feeders rather than fats.

WOOL AND MOHAIR SHOW

The 34th annual Wool and Mohair Show will be held at Sonora, June 8-10 and includes in addition to the fleece shows, junior wool, mohair, range sheep and goat judging and features the National 4-H Wool judging contest.

A&M Specialist Looks At Beef Cattle Situation

Increased beef cow numbers, a strong demand for feeder cattle, and slaughter numbers near the 1970 level are part of the cattle outlook for 1971, according to Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist.

Total cattle numbers reached 114.3 million head on Jan. 1, 1971. This represented an increase of about two and one-fourth million head.

Beef cows that have calved reached 37.5 million head on Jan. 1, a gain of three percent. Beef cow numbers are likely to continue to increase for the next several years, Dr. Uvacek said.

He predicts cattle slaughter for 1971 to be up only moderately from last year, with slaughter in the first half likely to be close to 1970 levels. Calf slaughter will be less than last year, but combined slaughter of cattle and calves will probably run along the same lines as in 1970 he added.

Dr. Uvacek predicted that cow slaughter in the first half of 1971 is expected to run somewhat under a year ago. Slaughter fell 12 percent and cow prices at most markets in January were about one dollar below a year ago.

With continued large supplies of pork, imported beef, and some heavy slaughter due to the drought conditions, cow prices are expected to rise seasonally, but considerably later than last year, he added.

Dr. Uvacek pointed out that cattle placed on feed in 23 major feeding states during January-March was up 12 percent over the same period a year ago. He commented that much of this gain in placements in Texas and the Southern Plains has been caused by liquidation of herds in the drought areas of Texas.

He indicated that the increased placements of cattle in feedlots in the next few months are likely to be encouraged by high fed cattle prices, and thus a strong demand for feeder cattle should be maintained.

Cattle on feed for slaughter markets in Texas totaled 1,563,000 head on April 1. This represented a 26 percent increase over a year ago.

Fed cattle marketings are expected to be close to the 1970 levels during the first half of the year. They may be slightly less in January-March and a little larger in April-June, Dr. Uvacek commented.

The 1970 calf crop was estimated at 45.8 million head, a two percent increase over the 1969 figures. Texas was one of the states showing the largest increases.

CATTLE ON FEED

Cattle placed on feed in the 23 major feeding states during the January-March period was up 12 percent from a year ago. Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist, says the increase in Texas was 26 percent and adds that the drouth conditions have been responsible for much of the gain in Texas and other Southern Plains states.

Control Water Weeds For Farm Pond Management

In Central Texas many farm ponds are infested with aquatic plants.

"A pond that is covered with cattails, moss and other water plants is like a garden that is grown up in weeds and grass," says the Soil Conservation Service. "It is worthless!" Weeds in farm ponds can be controlled and eliminated by proper construction, fertilization and safe use of chemicals.

Prevention and control of waterweeds begins with pond construction. The eliminations of as much shallow water as possible along the edge of a pond plays an important part in reducing quatic growth. The deepening of the edges to a depth of 2-3 feet reduces the amount of sunlight on the pond floor thus preventing any vegetative growth.

The Soil Conservation Service can help you with the site selection, design and construction of your pond to eliminate the shallow water.

Fertilization is a profitable way to control waterweeds in ponds while darkeing the water to restrict plant growth, fertilizer increases the amount of fish food, Highly fertile water grows millions of microscopic algae. These plants shade the pond bottom and prevent the seeds of waterweeds from germinating and growing.

A method to tell if the the pond is properly fertilized is to hold a white dish 12''-14'' below the water. If you can see the white dish, your pond needs more fertilizer. Fertilizer should be scattered along the edge of the pond in water less than 5 feet deep.

Muddy water or blackwater from organic matter, will shade food. Organic fertilizers like cottonseed meal or hay should be avoided as it encouraged filamentous algae or "pond scum".

If a heavy infestation of algae is present only part of the pond should be treated to prevent depleting the oxygen in the water, when the mass of dead organic matter decomposes. Copper sulfate with continued use will kill algae thus removing a source of food for fish therefore should not be used regularly. 2, 4-D will kill broadleaf aquatic plants such as water hyacinths.

For more information about controlling qauatic plants in ponds consult your local Soil and Water Conservation Service.

SBA Officer Will Conduct Interviews

Julian Cox, loan officer of the SBA Houston District Office, will be at the Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, May 5, to discuss SBA's financial and management assistance programs with businessmen and prospective businessmen in the Bryan-College Station area.

Interview hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Those individuals interested in an interview should call the Chamber of Commerce office at 822-3721 to schedule an appointment with Mr. Cox. The Chamber office is located at 401 South Washington Avenue, Bryan, Texas.

AFRICAN PINEAPPLE

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast, Reuter

The pineapple industry, first established in the Ivory Coast in 1947, is being rapidly expanded with government and foreign financial help. It is hoped that canned fruit for export will be quadrupled to about 40,000 tons a year by 1972.

Mark Twain's Story
OF THE
READING SPIDER

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri newspaper.

One day he got a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a a spider in his newspaper and asked if this was an omen of good luck or bad luck.

Twain wrote: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

You will find no spider webs across the doors of the merchants who advertise in your local paper.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Wilkerson of Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilkerson of Bishop spent the weekend with their mother, Mrs. Lula Wilkerson in the nursing home at Cameron.

Cameron Native Is Honored As 'Aggie Mother Of The Year'

COLLEGE STATION

Mrs. Ruth H. Hewitt, secretary to the Memorial Student Center director at Texas A&M University, was honored Sunday as "Aggie Mother of the Year."

Admired and depended upon by students and former students she has worked with through various MSC programs, Mrs. Hewitt is the mother of junior marketing major Thomas E. Hewitt and the wife of a 1937 Texas A&M graduate.

Mrs. Hewitt was introduced at a Sunday Student Senate parents day program and viewed a Corps of Cadets review from an honor post at the head of the reviewing line.

Mrs. Hewitt was introduced at a Sunday Student Senate parents day program and viewed a Corps of Cadets review from an honor post at the head of the reviewing line.

Mrs. Hewitt succeeds Mrs. J. Kelly Neal, San Antonio minister's wife, as mother of the year.

Her presentation, which normally would coincide with Mother's Day, was made early this year due to changes in A&M's school year schedule.

The Aggie mother of 1971 graduated from Cameron's Yoe High School, where she was band sweetheart. She studied at Baylor before moving to Bryan. She was secretary in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration (AAA) and Athletic Department under Homer Norton.

"She's a mother to me and a lot of other A&M students," Tommy said in making the nomination. "Through her work in the MSC, Mom has come to be depended on by many students, who've been helped with problems, making arrangements for dates and a lot of other things. I'm very proud of my Mother."

Seated Tea Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Cheryl Heitman, bride elect of David Synatzke, was honored Saturday with a seated tea and kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Gillis Graham.

Guests registered at a table decorated with daisies centered with a candle. Refreshments were served from a polished table centered with a yellow skillet holding an arrangement of spring flowers in the honoree's chosen colors. Other appointments were of silver and crystal.

Mrs. Graham presented Miss Heitman with a corsage of the spring flowers.

Elletts Host Barbecue

An informal barbecue honored Miss Betsy Bowman and Mr. Gill Wallace Saturday evening at the Robert Elletts lakeside property 'Black Acre' near Bremond.

A redecorated caboose which has been permanently installed at 'Black Acre' was a main attraction for guests who included members of the honored couples families.

Miss Bowman and Mr. Wallace will be married Friday, May 7 at All Saints Episcopal Church in Cameron.

Mrs. Clark Hosts Club

The Cameron Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Bob Clark Tuesday afternoon for a program on weight watching tips presented by Mrs. Lelia Pruett.

The hostess served fresh apple cake, punch, open face sandwiches and mints during the social hour.

NEW OFFICERS for the St. Edward Hospital Auxiliary are l to r seated) Mrs. J. E. Lafferty, second vice president; Mrs. W. O. Rinn, president; Mrs. Helen Burnett, secretary; (standing) Mrs. Richard Bush, first vice president. The 40 member auxiliary installed the new officers at a meeting Monday night. Mrs. Burns is outgoing president.

French Ready-To-Wear Is No Longer The "Stepchild'

By Peggy Massin
Reuter Correspondent

PARIS, Reuter

French ready-to-wear is no longer the stepchild of Paris haute couture. Mass produced collections for autumn and winter are attracting more buyers than ever.

Thousands of French and foreign buyers have been enthusing over new off - the - peg clothes presented by 800 exhibitors at the Porte De Versailles exhibition halls.

Individual presentations of ready-to-wear by Christian Dior, Guy Laroche and other top French houses also drew record crowds.

The French Federation of Women's Clothing says the ready-to-wear industry is in sound economic shape, with a turnover of almost 170 million ~~dollas~~ in 1970, an increase of 28 percent over the previous year.

Ready-to-wear has made more progress than any other French clothing industry since 20 firms joined forces in 1956 to establish the Federation, officials say.

West Germany is France's most important customer, accounting for 26.4 million dollars in sales last year, followed by Italy with 25.2 million dollars.

Buyers and manufacturers from the United States attend the ready - to - wear showings in grater numbers than the haute couture presentations, concentrating mainly on deluxe merchandise rather than lower priced lines.

The French ready - to - wear federation has recently shown great improvements in pricing and sizing.

When the industry was still in the cradle many foreign buyers felt that prices were not competitive. Although deluxe clothing was often superior in quality to comparable merchandise manufactured in the U.S. or Britain, the inexpensive lines were not outstanding.

Today, although higher priced clothes still account for the major part of export turnover, volume sales are on the upswing.

Foreign buyers are quick to pick up the latest gimmicks, pop art fantasies, knit and sportswear, and leather fashions and accessories.

According to some buyers, French sizing still comes in one standardized height and there is room for improvement in measurements intended for figures which may vary up to eight inches in height, although the basic size is the same.

While a few specialized firms concentrate on fashions for "tall girls" or "lilliputians," the majority of stock is scaled for women of average height.

French women argue that there is a lack of good styling and new colors available in large and small sizes.

A leading fashion editor, who wears size 48 insists she is unable to find attractive ready - made clothes with high fashion allure.

"I am still obliged to have everything made to order by a little dressmaker, or take an occasional fling in the couture," she says.

Club Study Analyzes Teaching Innovations

Mrs. John L. Martin was a recent hostess to the Pleasure and Profit Club for a program on child development and modern schools.

'For Whom The Bell Tolls' was the program topic presented by Mrs. Virginia Schuhsler who dedicated her talk to teachers - past and present. Her introduction included general statements concerning child development as made by some of todays outstanding educators.

The challenge of creative teaching with its areas was given with illustrations of media used.

The modern 'open area' school building was analized and compared to the Free Day Schools of England. Illustrations were also used in this comparison.

Mrs. J. A. Bowling, president, conducted a short business session.

Mrs. Martin, assisted by Mrs. H. M. Yager, served a salad plate to the fifteen members attending.

The next regular meeting will be May 29 with Mrs. Roy Hensley serving as hostess.

Officers Honored At Coffee

Mrs. Mable Dodson, member of the Time and Talent Committee of the Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of the Eastern Star, was honored at a Coffee Saturday morning, April 24, at the home of Mrs. Virginia Sanders. Other honorees were Mrs. Carol Barr, Worthy Matron, and Mr. Niley Smith, Worthy Patron of Cameron Chapter O.E.S. Mrs. Irene Smith registered guests attending, some from Hearne, Rockdale and Lexington.

Assisting with the serving were Miss Mary Alice Jackson, Mesdames Lillian Lester, Ruth Price, Melba Wells, Bessie Allen and Eva White. Also assisting were little Miss Tracy Lynn Barr and Miss Melissa Allen.

Arrangements of spring flowers and daisies were used for decoration.

Hobo Party Honors Tracy Lynn Barr

Tracy Lynn Barr celebrated her tenth birthday Saturday, April 24 with a 'Hobo Party.' A group of her friends, dressed in Hobo fashions, followed her brother Mike on a tour of Follow-the-Leader around the neighborhood ending at her grandparent's yard for the traditional weiner roast over a fire with drink served in tin cans. On the tour each little Hobo carried his cooking stick with a bandana wrapped lunch tied up in it. To complete the 'general mess' the Hobos had a battle of cascarones - eggshells filled with confetti.

Tasting Party Set

Marlin members of Beta Nu chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma will be hostesses on Saturday, May 1, at 12 noon for an International Tasting Party in the home of Mrs. Jack Stem, 407 Gift Street, Marlin.

SUBTLE—The understated look for evening is subtly expressed in cotton jersey printed in an Aztec motif of orange, lavender, brown, and beige on white. Smocking adds importance to the sculptured bodice and long flowing sleeves. By STJ, it's a natural for the spring wardrobe of 1971 Maid of Cotton Pat Perry.

Cool Ideas For Summer Meals

New Dessert Star For Your Diet

Even if you're on a diet you can have desserts, provided you have special recipes that are low in calories. Strawberry Chiffon is made with a diet-designed recipe that makes you forget you're dieting. It's a fluffy dessert that is molded and held firm with unflavored gelatine. Because it has no flavor, this gelatine lets all the natural flavors of low-calorie, fresh fruits come through for delicious diet desserts. Enjoy Strawberry Chiffon —delightful party dessert, too.

Strawberry Chiffon

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ½ cup cold water
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- Non-nutritive sweetener equivalent to 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 pint strawberries, washed and hulled
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

Sprinkle gelatine over cold water in saucepan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, about 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in salt, non-nutritive sweetener, lemon juice and vanilla. Mash berries, or puree' in electric blender; add to gelatine mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into 4-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

Summer will be singing in the air soon, so serve beef sirloin steaks from the outdoor grill. For a new flavor twist, add a flaming fruit sauce. Two sirloin steaks, inch-thick or thicker, are a great choice for a group of 5 or 6, be it family or friends.

When broiling steaks on the grill, be sure the heat is low to moderate for best results, advises Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Broiled Sirloin Steaks

Allow charcoal to burn until covered with gray ash before putting steaks on grill. Steaks cut 1 inch thick should be placed 2 to 3 inches from heat; steaks cut 2 inches thick, 3 to 5 inches from heat. When one side is browned, turn, season cooked side, finish broiling on second side and season. Steaks cut 1 inch thick require approximately 15 to 20 minutes for rare, 20 to 25 for medium. Steaks cut 2 inches thick require approximately 35 to 40 minutes for rare, 40 to 45 for medium.

BEEF SIRLOIN STEAKS, naturally tender and juicy, are an all-summer family grill favorite.

Flaming Fruit Sauce

Drain 1 can (11 ounces), mandarin oranges, 1 can (16 ounces) dark sweet cherries and 1 can (16 ounces) sliced peaches, reserving ½ cup peach juice. Combine fruit and reserved peach juice with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon vanilla and almond extract in a saucepan. Sprinkle with ½ cup sugar and dot with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Heat on grill. Just before serving, top with sugar cubes soaked in lemon extract and ignite.

Hot Submarine Sandwiches Made In Covered Barbecue Kettle

The tasty submarine sandwich has gone under cover to become a not-so-secret agent in making summertime picnics much talked about affairs. Cooperating in this culinary coup is the covered barbecue kettle which bathes the sandwich in reflected heat to bake and bring out its hidden flavors. Here's how it's done.

Undercover Submarines

- 1 Loaf Vienna bread
- 12 Salami slices
- 6 Mozarella or Provolone cheese slices
- 6 Baked ham slices
- 6 American cheese slices
- 6 Thin slices tomato
- 1 Sweet green pepper, thinly sliced or chopped
- Butter or margarine

Cut loaf of bread in half and slice portions lengthwise. Spread halves with butter or margarine. On the bottom half of each place a layer of three salami slices, one of Mozarella or Provolone cheese, a second layer of salami, then three baked ham slices followed by three American cheese slices. Top with three slices of tomato and finally the sliced or chopped pepper.

Put the stacked halves of the sandwiches on sheets of aluminum foil and place them in the center of the covered kettle grill which has the coals stacked to the sides for indirect cooking. Bake for five minutes, then set the top halves of the sandwiches on the grill with the butter side up. Continue baking for seven minutes or until these halves are well toasted. Remove the sandwiches from the grill, put the two halves together and serve. Serves two hearty appetites.

Up, Up, Up!

Should inflation continue at its present rate, in 28 years a person making $7,200 today would need to earn $16,800 to maintain his present standard of living. A $25,000 home today would cost $58,000, television sets would increase from $275 to almost $640. A suit today costing $125.00 would be $290.00 and college tuition would be double what it is today.

New Books Available At Cameron Library

DUEL OF EAGLES by Peter Townsend; A swiftly - paced work of history told by a famous veteran and ace of the RAF that traces the uncertain births, the faltering adolescence and the brutal coming of age of two rival air forces - the Royal Air Force and the Luftwaffe.

THE THRONE OF SATURN by Allen Drury; Once again Pulitzer Prize-winning author Allen Drury has turned a keen, dissecting eye on contemporary American affairs, in this new novel filled with the drama, the suspense, and the politics of America's race to put the first man on the planet Mars.

MAO TSE-TUNG ON REVOLUTION AND WAR edited with an introduction by M. Rejai; In this collection of essays Mae Tse Tung speaks for himself, free of Western interpretation or influence, about his plans for China.

MELBURY SQUARE by Dorothy Eden; In the tradition of her bestselling 'The Vines of Yarrabee' Dorothy Eden now offers her many readers a tumultous saga of Edwardian England. Spanning the years from the pre-World War I period to the present, it tells the dramatic story of a great beauty, the reigning debutante of London's fashionable Melbury Square at a time when nothing was more important than the next ball.

MCCALL'S NEEDLEWORK TREASURY: A treasury of everything today's needleworker wants to know. . . from the opening pages which summarize the fascinating history of needlework, through the rich store of needle art instructions, to the professional technical aids and dictionary of less familiar stitches and terms.

CHINESE THOUGHT: FROM CONFUCIUS TO MAO TSE-TUNG by H. G. Creel; A readable account of the development of Chinese thought, by an able and well - known scholar. The main currents of thought and the contributions of outstanding philosophers are made easier to understand as they are related to their background.

LA RAZA (The Mexican Americans) by Stan Steiner; Exploring the world of Mexican Americans with the thoroughness and empathy that characterized 'The New Indians,' Stan Steiner has produced a vivid and significant book about an increasingly vocal minority. La Raza is rich with moving episodes and memorable characters.

Sparkling Party Punch

Sparkling Party Punch is a refreshing way to quench a lot of small-fry thirsts. It's a great party beverage which has super taste appeal as well as supplying Vitamin C. The delicious flavor comes from a combination of Tang Instant Breakfast Drink, pineapple juice, and a carbonated soft drink. Served in a more sophisticated setting, this punch is also at home at showers, club meetings, and other grown-up gatherings.

Sparkling Party Punch

- 1 cup orange-flavored instant breakfast drink
- 1½ cups pineapple juice
- 1 bottle (28 fl. oz.) ginger ale or club soda
- Cracked ice or ice cubes

In a 2-quart punch bowl, combine instant breakfast drink with pineapple juice and ginger ale, stirring until completely dissolved. Add ice. Garnish with mint leaves, if desired. Makes about 5½ cups plus ice or 10 to 12 servings.

This Mexican City Claims 'Strawberry Capital' Title

By Jack McDonald

IRAPUATO, Mexico,

This central Mexican city of 150,000 now claims to be "the strawberry capital of the world."

It exports 70 to 80 million pounds of frozen strawberries annually to points all over the world -- mostly to the United States and Europe. London has become a big customer recently.

A motorist would need no map to be aware of his approach to Irapuato, 200 miles north of Mexico City. There are miles of strawberry plantations and a lingering fragrance fills the air.

Along the highways leading to the city there are hundreds of little stands where "two kilo" (four pound) baskets -- attractively handwoven -- of strawberries are offered for sale to passersby.

The city's comparatively newfound prosperity goes back less than a decade when Jose Martinez, a native of Iraputato, built its first modern strawberry freezing plant.

But the real story behind the industry began during world war II. When Martinez, then 22, enlisted in the U.S. Navy, though a Mexican citizen. He was on a battleship in the pacific when fresh strawberries were served aboard ship for one Christmas dinner.

They were small and without much flavor. "We grow bigger and juicier ones back home," the young Mexican thought.

In 1947 he started exporting frozen strawberries from his home town.

There were no mechanical refrigeration trailers in those days.

The berries had to be shipped in dry ice. But orders snowballed. Martinez' modern plant today employs 600 workers, apart from those picking berries in the fields. And it is only one of several plants in the area.

Strawberries had their origin in Europe five centuries ago, but when Spanish explorer Hernando Cortez came marching into Mexico in the early 16th century he brought none -- only soldiers, horses, guns and glass beads. It wasn't until the French colonized Mexico in the 1800's that the fruit first appeared in the country.

What high company; What a privilege to be held in the palm of the strong hand of God. No man dare trying to stand alone...to walk without Him. Just as surely, no man can fail when God is with him. "My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand."

John 10:29. He has everybody in His Hand. He who would be wise should step upon the strong hand of God this day and take Him at his word. He said, "My grace is sufficient for thee."

Only trust Him. Help support His cause. Attend church every week and may the Lord ever be with thee.

Study Shows Marihuana Affects Personality Traits

Clinical observations of marihuana users have suggested that some personality characteristics are correlated with regular marihuana use.

In a study to investigate the relationship of personality factors to extent of marihuana use in college students, four groups of marihuana users were compared with two control groups.

The user groups consisted of 14 subjects who reported using marihuana every day, 19 reported use once or twice per week, 18 once or twice per month, and 28 less than once per month.

Groups were rated on four scales of the Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory: a risk taking scale, a stimulus-seeking scale, nine specially constructed items, and a number of demographic variables.

More frequent use of marihuana was significantly related to higher scores on the stimulus - seeking scale, on the MMPI psychopathic deviation scale, and to "true" responses on items such as "a person should not be punished for breaking a law that he thinks is unreasonable," and "as long as I can remember, I have had more emotional problems than other people."

Regular marihuana use was also significantly related to use of other drugs.

The study was conducted by Norman Q. Brill, MD, Evelyn Crumpton, PhD, and Henry M. Grayson, PhD, at the UCLA School of Medicine, Center for the Health Sciences.

(AMA Health Education Service, March 1971).

Southern California's Los Angeles Basin, a drained coastal plain ringed by mountains, holds nearly a hundred cities, National Geographic says.

Donations Sought For Upkeep Of Pioneer Cemetery

Donations are being sought for the care and upkeep of the old Pioneer Cemetery, according to Ed Westbrook, chairman of the cemetery association.

"I have been trying to get someone to take care and see that it is worked but have been unable to do so," he said.

Donations may be left at the Citizens National Bank in the Pioneer Cemetery account and will be used for the upkeep of the cemetery.

CYO To Sponsor Saturday Dance

The Cameron CYO will sponsor a dance Saturday, May 1 from 8 until midnight at the Simon-George Hall.

Music will be provided by the Sienna of Austin. Admission will be $1.25 each.

Remodeling Planned For 77 Drive-In

Reed Whatley, owner of the 77 Drive In Theatre, is in the processing of remodeling. Among the first improvements will be new lens for a clearer picture, installation and repair of all speakers for better sound, Whatley said.

The boxoffice and concession stand will be painted and a new basket weave fence will be put around the theatre.

Whatley's daughter, Dawn, and son-in-law David Russell have moved to Cameron from Fort Worth to be the new managers. They have three young sons, David, Allen Ray, and Dennis. The Russells will make their home in Cameron and live at the rear of the theatre.

News of the theatre's movies will be appearing on the Herald's classified page.

Experts Plan Restoration Of Tower Of Babylon

By Albert Flias
Reuter Correspondent

BAGHDAD, Iraq,

Iraqi Information Minister Shafik Al-Kamali arrived in Lisbon, Portugal, to seek financial assistance for plans to reconstruct the ancient city of Babylon in Southern Iraq.

Iraqi experts already have embarked on plans for restoring the ancient Tower of Babylon and the famous Hanging Gardens, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world.

Kamali, accompanied by the governor of Babylon Province and Iraq's Director General of Antiquities, is seeking financial assistance for the plan from the Gulbenkian Foundation.

Other international organizations, such as Unesco, may also be approached for help.

Preliminary estimates of the cost of restoring a city that was once capital of one of the great empires of the ancient world, Babylonia, have been put at about 28 million dollars.

The project came under discussion early this year when Iraq's vice-president, Gen. Saleh Mandi Ammash, visited the ruins of Babylon with ministers and experts.

Ammash was reported to have instructed engineers and archaeological experts to prepare plans and surveys as a first stage for its reconstruction.

A world information campaign will be launched to seek the support of international organizations and other cultural bodies.

Ammash also urged the Governorate of Babylon and the ruling Arab Baath Socialist Party to participate in a program to remove excessive salinity covering the grater part of the historic site.

Iraqi archeological teams have during the past 20 years carried out excavations on the site where it is believed Babylon's lower city stood. The city was built on a 4,000-acre site, surround by 16 miles of walls.

Despite legends surrounding the Tower of Babylon, archaeologists estimate it was first built in the 18th Century B.C. and by Emperor Nebuchadnezzar at the beginning of the Sixth Centruy B.C.

The edifice had seven storys with a total height of about 280 feet.

Under the rebuilding project, a Greek theater dating to the Third Century B.C. will be restored. The Iraqi Directorate of Archaeology last year charged a team of its experts with restoring the theater, which was semi - circular and capable of seating 3,000 spectators.

In 1969, the Directorate of Archaeology delegated another team with restoring Babylon's royal palace, 350 yards long and 190 yards wide. The foundations of the palace and other historical landmarks have been unearthed during excavations by Iraqi and foreign expeditions over the past century.

In the last 20 years, Iraqi authorities have adopted a large scale program for restoring some of the ruins. A musfum, with samples of Babyloian finds and explanatory diagrams, was opened several years ago.

This young businessman fought for freedom

Paul Revere and other colonial businessmen like him resisted the governmental regulation and control by British tariffs and taxes. They treasured the free enterprise system, where each of them could offer his product or service at a fair price and make a profit.
Today, almost 200 years later, Texas Power and Light Company operates under the same free enterprise system that Revere and so many others worked so hard to refine and preserve. TP&L and other businesses are continually striving to provide better service and create improved products for you, the customer.
TP&L is dedicated to the system on which America was founded.

Diagram of a drug abuser

Redness and watering of eyes —glue sniffing
Red, raw nostrils —sniffing cocaine
Running nose —heroin, morphine, codeine
Profuse perspiration and body odor —amphetamines
Constant licking of lips to keep them moist resulting in chapped raw lips —amphetamines
Long sleeve garments worn constantly to hide needle "tracks" —heroin or methedrine
Drastic loss of weight —heroin, opium
Tremor of hands —amphetamines
Sunglasses worn at inappropriate times and places hiding dilated pupils—LSD
Staggering, disoriented —barbiturates

These are a few of the signs that may indicate that a young person could be abusing drugs or using narcotics. While these symptoms are not proof of drug abuse (most could occur for several other reasons), they should serve to alert parents and friends that a problem may exist.

If you're not sure, talk with your family physician. If you suspect, ask your child point blank, "Are you taking drugs?"

It's a sad thing to have to ask someone you love, but saying "Goodbye" is even sadder still.

SCS NEWS

More beef for less money is the ultimate goal of all livestock producers. Opportunity for reaching this goal lies in the area of grassland improvement and management. It is vital that livestock producers reduce the cost of production in meeting the demands of the cost-price squeeze.

Grassland improvement must be carried out as a part of a coordinated long-range plan which includes all the treatment needed to assure maximim forage one of the most costly is that of controlling brush on thousands of acres of land in the Little River-San Gabriel Soil and Water Conservation District.

Treatment for control of brush is complex and difficult. It is a highly technical job because of the great number of brush species involved, the variety of conditions exisitng over the district, reinfestation, problems of erratic and ineffective control, and the need for restoring and managing the grass. Another important consideration is wildlife and how to control the brush in such a way as to encourage wildlife.

But getting rid of the brush is not the final answer, it is only the beginning of a successful grassland improvement program. The second step is to improve the condition of the forage. Important to any brush control practice is deferred grazing and range seeding. The brush controlled area must be rested following brush control to allow the grass present to produce a good seed crop, if there is a sufficient seed source available. If there is insufficient seed source available, naturally the area will have to be mechanically seeded. It may be seeded to a native grass of a suitable introduced grass.

After range seeding, rest the pasture until the grass is well established or until after the first seed crop has been produced.

Brush control and range seeding without good follow-up is a poor investment. It is vital that the regrowth brush is continuously controlled and that proper grazing use is made of the pasture. Otherwise, within a few years, the time and money spent in improving the grassland will be lost.

There is no better time to start on a good grassland improvement program than at the present. The sooner the improvement is started, the sooner the results will be noticed.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Medicines For Mental Illness

What kinds of drugs are used for the different types of mental illness? A useful classification has been prepared by the Psychopharmacology Research Branch of the National Institute of Mental Health.

First, the scientists define these medicines as "those drugs which have their main or principal effect on mood, thought processes, or behavior." They divide the drugs into six major classes.

Perhaps the best known mental illness drugs are the major and minor tranquilizers, which became available in the 1950's. An example of the major tranquilizers is chlorpromazine. These drugs are considered useful in treatment of most severe disorders, such as the psychoses, including schizophrenia. They help decrease agitation, thought disorder, hallucinations, and delusions.

The minor tranquilizers are also referred to as antianxiety agents. An example of this class is meprobamate. They are used to alleviate anxiety without inducing drowsiness such as sedative drugs cause.

Antidepressant drugs came into wide use following the tranquilizers; and an example is imipramine. These agents were found useful in treating some cases of depression.

Stimulant drugs, of which the amphetamines are an illustration, are principally used medically for the treatment of obesity since their effects include the reduction of appetite. They increase the desire for activity usually and reduce fatigue and are sometimes used in mental illness in cases of depression.

The sedative drugs, with the barbiturate, phenobarbital, an example, are a group of long-used drugs. In mental illness, they have been employed as helping agents, for calming purposes, particularly before the tranquilizers came along.

Hypnotic drugs include the short-acting (as contrasted to long and intermediate acting barbiturates) sedative type of drugs, such as secobarbitol, a short-acting barbiturate. They are used in treatment of disturbances of sleep.

Through research, additional drugs are being added; and lithium carbonate has recently come into special use as a treatment of the manic episodes of manic-depressive disease. Studies are underway to determine the full potentials and limitations of this promising agent.

Psychological and physiological dependence—and undesired, harmful side effects—can occur with any of the drugs used against mental illness. This cannot be too strongly emphasized. It must also be stressed that none of the drugs should be taken without a doctor's prescription and under a careful, planned program of use.
